

STUDENT LOAN DEFAULT RATE

A cohort default rate is the percentage of a school's borrowers who enter repayment on certain Federal Family Education Loan (FFEL) Program or William D. Ford Federal Direct Loan (Direct Loan) Program loans during a particular federal fiscal year (FY), October 1 to September 30, and default or meet other specified conditions prior to the end of the second following fiscal year. Please refer to the Cohort Default Rate Guide for a more in-depth description of cohort default rates and how the rates are calculated.

According to data presented below for 3-year cohorts ending in 2015, and 2016, and 2017, Cleveland State has seen a reduction in the loan default rate, and has been rated 4th or 5th among the 13 public 4-year universities in Ohio for loan default rate for the past three years. Among comparable universities the University of Akron, Youngstown State University, and University of Toledo, Cleveland State has the lowest loan default rate.
